Lausche Asks Close Watch On Spending

CHICAGO (AP)—Sen. Lausche (D-Ohio) said here Monday that the apparent U. S. missile lag "has accentuated the need for eliminating government waste and duplicated spending."

He said the federal government should "not be encumbered with functions that do not logically belong to it."

Addressing a regional conference of the Citizens Committee for the Hoover Report, Lausche said President Eisenhower's planned request for additional defense department and foreign aid funds next year will seek to increase the national budget by $2½ billion over the 1957 figure.

"Our department of defense must be given the monies to bring our ballistics, space research and nuclear programs up to first place, but this must be done without impairing the economic stability of the nation," Lausche said.

"Our foreign aid program must once again be scrutinized carefully in order that our money be spent without waste."

"The coming of the Sputniks and the implication which they carry on the advances made by the Soviet in developing propulsion engines for missiles and rockets has accentuated the need for eliminating governmental waste and duplicated spending."

"Rendition of service which rightfully and historically are functions of state and local governments, and the entrance of the federal government into business operations which properly belong to private enterprise, must end."

Old-Time Star's Hoard In Shoe Box

CINCINNATI (AP)—Mrs. Mariette Branson, an old-time silent film actress, lived here in obscurity for more than a quarter century, keeping her valuables in an old shoe box.

It was the shoe box, opened by a friend the day after her death, that brought the former actress back into the headlines.

The box, holding about $55,000 in bills, securities and old gold coins, was introduced into probate court Monday. Mrs. Branson, 66, gave the box to a friend when she entered a hospital last week. But she died Sunday and the friend turned the box over to the court.

Teays Valley Name Of Northeast School

Teays Valley is the official name of the newly consolidated northeastern school district. That name was picked last night as the new board of education met in Ashville School.

The board named S. E. Beers, veteran clerk of the Scioto Board of Education, as clerk of the new Teays Valley Board of Education. Beers will be paid $3,000 a year.

The organization meeting of the new school board was attended by members Harold Hines, James Moody, W. O. Dountz, John Moss and Dolphie Remy. The Teays Valley district is comprised of the old Ashville, Harrison, Madison, Scioto and Walnut school districts.

After extensive consideration of a name for the new consolidated district the title, Teays Valley was finally decided upon. Because of its abundant water supply the underground Teays River is given partial credit for the locating of the Lockbourne Air Force Base and the DuPont industries in this area. Due to its significance to this area in the past and present, its name was selected for the new school district.

THE TEAYS RIVER is thousands of years old, pre-dating the glacial period in Ohio. It passes through the Pickaway County district as an underground stream. Before the ice age, the mighty Teays, which is estimated to have been a stream four to five miles wide, carried the surface waters of south-eastern Ohio and West Virginia northward to Lake Erie.

The present Ohio River, as we know it, did not exist until the glaciers appeared and dammed the Teays with ice. Eventually this caused flood waters to spread over southern Ohio until the Manchester Divide gave way. This process was repeated down the valley until the Ohio River was formed.

Ike's Paris Decision Near

Physical Exam Today To Determine Course

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower learns today whether his doctors feel he is fit enough to attend the North Atlantic Alliance summit meeting in Paris next week.

The President arranged to undergo an afternoon medical checkup by a team of doctors, including most or all of the nine physicians who examined him after he suffered a mild stroke 15 days ago.

At the time, Eisenhower's doctors said the "outlook for complete recovery within a reasonable period of time is excellent." They prescribed several weeks of rest and "substantially decreased activity."

Since then, Eisenhower seemingly has made strong recovery progress. He has continued to handle presidential chores, although at a reduced rate.

The President returned from a weekend at his Gettysburg, Pa., farm Monday, making the automobile trip through the rain in 2 hours and 5 minutes. Mrs. Eisenhower was with him.

IF EISENHOWER is unable to make the Paris trip, Vice President Nixon will go in his place.

If, as expected, Eisenhower does go, indications are he will leave Washington by air Friday and arrive in the French capital the next day.

Sherman Adams, Eisenhower's top aide, told a Republican financial group meeting in St. Louis that "the President is on his way back to complete recovery."

"It is my opinion," Adams said, "that he is in excellent shape."

Adams said that "at no time during this recent illness has the President been unable to carry out his constitutional duties, or unable to make clear-cut, responsible decisions."

$38 Million in New Highway Job Bids Studied by State

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Ohio Department of Highways today opened bids on about $38 million worth of road improvements, including three sections of the Cincinnati to Cincinnati Freeway.

Other big projects included the final section of Akron's East Expressway, a portion of Cleveland's innerbelt east and the second section of the Sandusky Street Expressway in Columbus.

The Cleveland project is nearly one mile long and is to be finished Oct. 31, 1959. The apparent low bid of $2,949,303 was submitted by the Horvitz Co. of Cleveland. The state estimate was $3,300,000.

Bids were opened on the second

No New Civil Rights Program Expected

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Justice Department does not plan to recommend additional civil rights legislation to the next Congress.

Atty. Gen. Rogers expressed the view that Congress and the country might well "let some little time elapse" to observe the workings of the Civil Rights Act adopted after considerable debate at the last session.

That law represented a watered-down version of the administration's proposal, with the result that some congressmen have announced intentions of seeking additional legislation next year.

Third Man Nabbed In Cop-Shooting

CLEVELAND (AP)—Police early today captured the last man of a trio involved in the slaying of Police Lt. Edward Lentz.

James Wilson Davis, 30, is described by police as the man who planned and directed the robbery of an East Side gambling den shortly before Lentz was shot.

Robert Lyons, 29, who is quoted by police as admitting he fired the fatal shot, and Dallas Edward Milam, driver of the car used by the trio, already were in custody.

The police officer was killed by a single bullet as he halted the men near the scene of the robbery.

Other names considered were Valley View, Pioneer, Teays River and Green Acres. Greenfields was suggested but dropped because it resembled nearby Greenfield. Mondamin, the Indian word for corn, was mentioned but received little response.

Another name given was Pine, which combined the first two letters of Pickaway and Northeastern, but this was overruled. The last name to receive any significant response was Shawm. This word was the first letter of each of the townships involved in the consolidation, Scioto, Harrison, Ashville, Walnut and Madison.

The board passed a resolution ratifying all contracts of employed people of the five schools already approved by the local boards. All contracts existing under the old boards also were approved.

Each old school board clerk was asked to serve through the month of December and give assistance to the new clerk. The Ashville Banking Co. was elected as depository for the board. The fourth Monday of each month will be the regular meeting night.

The superintendents of the five schools were called in and each outlined the programs that had been set up for the present school year. They were instructed to carry on as planned to avoid confusion. A definite uniform program will be instituted at a later date for future years.

ACCORDING TO County Superintendent George McDowell, each individual superintendent will have to assume more of the responsibility for running his school, now that the local boards are no longer operating.

The Teays School District has a school tax valuation of over 40 million and has a present enrollment of 1,272 elementary and 421 high school pupils. The annual expenses for the district are approximately $500,000.

The board will meet Thursday, December 19, to review and approve the payroll of the total district.

The Western school district will meet at 7:30 p. m. tonight in the Monroe school to decide the same issues as the Teays Valley district. The eight township school superintendents will not be required to attend this meeting as were the five administrators at Ashville last night, due to the length of time necessary to select a clerk.

phase of the Sandusky Street Expressway in Columbus, with work to be finished Oct. 31, 1959. The section runs from the Scioto River south to Sullivan Avenue, and Sandusky Street will be depressed under Broad Street.

Visintine & Co. of Columbus submitted the apparent low bid of $2,030,000. The state estimate was $2,444,900.

The freeway section for which bids were opened are in Franklin, Medina and Richland counties. All are to be finished by Aug. 31, 1959.

The Franklin County section begins in the Chaseland Manor area and runs for 3.26 miles. The apparent low bid of $2,076,091 was submitted by the Red Eagle Corp. of Columbus. The estimate was $2,171,700.

The Medina County freeway section is 4.24 miles long. The apparent low bid of $3,500,077 was submitted by A. J. Baltes, Inc. of Norwalk. The estimate was $3,766,700.

In Richland County, near Mansfield, there will be bridges to carry Ohio 39, Mansfield-Washington Road and Mansfield-Lucas Road over the freeway. The freeway will cross Rocky Fork Creek and the proposed Mt. Zion Road.

The apparent low bid of $4,293,266 was submitted by C. F. Replogle Co. of Circleville. The estimate was $4,909,500.

Bids were opened on the final section of Akron's East Expressway, a two-mile section. The apparent low bid of $2,298,751 was submitted by D. W. Winkelman Co. of Syracuse, N. Y. The estimate was $2,733,200.

Bakery Union Irks AFL-CIO

Immediate Expulsion Being Planned Today

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—AFL-CIO leaders, angry at repeated rebuffs in efforts to rid the Bakery Workers Union of alleged corrupt elements, today slated the 132,000-member union for immediate expulsion.

Convention delegates voted by a 7-1 margin Monday to expel the bakery group, but to withhold its effect perhaps to March 15 to give James G. Cross, accused Bakery Union president, time to abdicate.

Then when Cross reiterated he had no intention of stepping out, and would seek reelection at a special AFL-CIO union convention next spring, AFL-CIO President George Meany shoved ahead the expulsion timetable.

Blasting Cross as corrupt, Meany indicated the expulsion grievance would be canceled, the union kicked out and a reform "integrity group" of the bakers charted as a new, clean Bakery Workers Union.

The "integrity" group claims to represent about 100 local unions with some 50,000 members, or more than a third of the Bakers Union.

IT HAS HAD delegates here a week drafting a constitution and otherwise getting ready to establish a new union.

Cross, with his wife, daughter and son-in-law watching from the galleries, told delegates he had done nothing sufficiently wrong warranting the demand for his ouster. Cross said he was "a whipping boy, a scapegoat."

But Meany told delegates of Cross: "This is a remarkable guy. I have seen both sides of him and I can tell you quite frankly that this union is in a bad way if he continues to run its affairs."

Three more unions—the Laundry, Distillery and United Textile Workers unions—also face expulsion moves this week.

Kiwanis Paper Sale Nets Local Club Total of $1,069

The Circleville Kiwanis Club today extended its sincere gratitude to the public for the fine reception and response that was given its news boys last night, in the sale of the Kiwanis Welfare edition.

The sale was "kicked-off" with an auction held in the Common Pleas courtroom. The auction grossed $138, which was $50 over the previous year. Hal Dickinson, Circleville Hardware, was the high bidder for the first paper at $50.

Others bidding over one dollar were: Herb Seymour, Ed Wallace, Bob Wilson, Ward Skinner, Charles Schieber, and The Circleville Key Club. The auction was handled by Clay Chalfin and Jack McGuire.

The sale grossed $1,069.16 and will probably reach an $1,100 total, according to paper sale chairman, Pete Meshkoff. Last year the drive netted $1,072.49.

Money received will be used for aiding underprivileged children and recreational activities conducted at Ted Lewis Park. Among these

Danger Seen In Cuts for Home Budget

NEW YORK (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson, twice-defeated Democratic candidate for President, has advised against cutting the domestic budget to finance an accelerated missile program.

Stevenson outlined his program for catching up with Russia in science Monday night before the New York County Lawyers Assn. He said the United States and its allies should give new economic help to the weaker areas of Asia and Africa to outmaneuver the Russians there.

It must not be a cautious approach, Stevenson said, but a resolute, nonpartisan determination to lead and stay on course.

He urged that the North Atlantic Treaty Organization be used not only for immediate military needs in meeting the Russian challenge but for a "joint search for a better, safer future."

7 Unions Join Mass Walkout

Subway Lines Jammed By Desperate Riders

NEW YORK (AP)—New York's millions, who seldom ever find travel easy, ran into incredible difficulties this morning as a mushrooming subway strike made a movement almost impossible.

The strike, begun at 5 a.m. Monday by a union representing most of the subway motormen, was joined today by six other unions and service ranged from zero on some lines to one-third on others.

As a result, countless thousands of desperate commuters jammed stations of subway arteries still giving any service and battled like football players to get on trains.

Hundreds of thousands sought vainly to switch to buses and trains operated by commuter railroads leading into Manhattan. Thousands of others sought to get to town in their cars, creating fearful traffic jams.

Travel was at a virtual standstill at many places.

THE GREAT business and industry of New York was hit hard, both from lack of workers and loss of customers during the Christmas shopping season.

The New York Transit Authority, which operates the subways and many bus lines, said there was mass picketing of a bus repair shop and four garages.

The striking motormen's union claims 2,600 of the subway system's 3,167 men who handle controls of the trains which daily carry 4,700,000 riders.

Monday the striking union was joined by conductors, towermen, signal electricians, repair shop mechanics, a coach union and plant workers.

The MBA claimed the union front put 23,000 of the city's 35,000 subway workers on strike.

Meanwhile, transit authority chairman Charles L. Patterson announced that any striking motormen who failed to show up for their jobs by this afternoon will be fired.

He also announced that the authority was offering a bonus of 25 per cent to all operating and maintenance employees who stay at work during the strike.

The authority will provide sleeping and eating facilities at various terminals and plants for those seeking to keep the transit system going.

The authority said these men also will be paid around the clock, receiving time and a half pay for all hours over eight, in addition to the 25 per cent bonus.

Ohio Idle Pay Claims Continuing Increase

COLUMBUS (AP)—Both new and continuing claims for unemployment compensation showed increases for the week ended Dec. 7, the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation reports.

New claims for the week were estimated at 19,993 compared with 18,195 the previous week.

$287 Million Yearly Setup For Education Aid Studied

WASHINGTON (AP)—An educator said today Secretary of Welfare Folsom is supporting a proposal that the federal government spend 287 million dollars a year on aid to education.

Heavy emphasis would be placed on science and mathematics in elementary and high schools. The plan would provide for some 20,000 scholarships a year, financed by the federal government but administered by the states.

G. Kerry Smith, executive secretary of the Assn. for Higher Education, is one of several education leaders who have been meeting in secrecy with U.S. Office of Education officials to work out the plan, which would run four or five years.

The AHE is a department of the National Education Assn.

In an article for the Dec. 15 issue of AHE's college and university bulletin, Smith wrote that the program, "designed to help meet the challenge of Soviet scientific advances, is being prepared by the U.S. Office of Education and supported by Secretary Folsom . . . for inclusion in the President's budget message to Congress."

From other sources it was learned that current official thinking is that the new program would take priority over Eisenhower's school construction bill, which has been rebuffed by Congress.

The 287 million dollar figure attached to the new program compares with 451 million dollars requested by the administration for the first year of the proposed school construction program.

Smith said the new program is subject to change but that, as it stands now, it calls for:

1. Allotting 150 million dollars a year to raise the salaries of elementary and secondary school science and mathematics teachers and to provide laboratory equipment.

2. A total of 20 million dollars to uncover high school students with special talents in science and math and to seek to guide them into these critical fields, providing some 20,000 scholarships a year for such students.

3. One hundred millions dollars a year to expand and improve buildings and equipment at two-year technical institutes and at colleges and universities.

4. Twelve million dollars to expand the program of university graduate study already supported by some government agencies, such as the Atomic Energy Commission and the National Science Foundation.

5. Five million dollars to support foreign language instruction centers at universities, and to provide language fellowships.

The proportion of funds which states and institutions might have to put up to go with federal money would vary with different parts of the program.

If, as expected, Eisenhower does go, indications are he will leave Washington by air Friday and arrive in the French capital the next day.

Sherman Adams, Eisenhower's top aide, told a Republican finance group meeting in St. Louis that "the President is on his way back to complete recovery."

"It is my opinion," Adams said, "that he is in excellent shape."

Adams said that "at no time during this recent illness has the President been unable to carry out his constitutional duties, or unable to make clear-cut, responsible decisions."

Bakery Union Irks AFL-CIO

Immediate Expulsion Being Planned Today

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—AFL-CIO leaders, angry at repeated rebuffs in efforts to rid the Bakery Workers Union of alleged corrupt elements, today slated the 132,000-member union for immediate expulsion.

Convention delegates voted by a 7-1 margin Monday to expel the bakery group, but to withhold its effect perhaps to March 15 to give James G. Cross, accused Bakery Union president, time to abdicate.

Then when Cross reiterated he had no intention of stepping out, and would seek reelection at a special Bakery Union convention next spring, AFL-CIO President George Meany shoved ahead the expulsion timetable.

Blasting Cross as corrupt, Meany indicated the expulsion would be canceled, the union kicked out and a reform "integrity group" of the bakers chartered as a new, clean Bakery Workers Union.

The "integrity" group claims to represent about 100 local unions with some 50,000 members, or more than a third of the Bakers Union.

IT HAS HAD delegates here a week drafting a constitution and otherwise getting ready to establish a new union.

But Meany told delegates of Cross: "This is a remarkable guy. I have seen both sides of him and I can tell you quite frankly that this union is in a bad way if he continues to run its affairs."

Three more unions — the Laundry, Distillery and United Textile Workers unions — also face expulsion moves this week.

HELP FIGHT TB BUY CHRISTMAS SEALS

Kiwanis Paper Sale Nets Local Club Total of $1,069

The Circleville Kiwanis Club today extended its sincere gratitude to the public for the fine reception and response that was given its news boys last night, in the sale of the Kiwanis Welfare edition.

The sale was "kicked-off" with an auction held in the Common Pleas courtroom. The auction grossed $138, which was $50 over the previous year. Hal Dickinson, Circleville Hardware, was the high bidder for the first paper at $50.

Others bidding over one dollar were: Herb Seymour, Ed Wallace, Bob Wilson, Ward Skinner, Charles Schieber, and The Circleville Key Club. The auction was handled by Clay Chaffin and Jack McGuire.

The sale grossed $1,069.16 and will probably reach an $1,100 total, according to paper sale chairman, Pete Meshkoff. Last year the drive netted $1,072.49.

Money received will be used for aiding underprivileged children and recreational activities conducted at Ted Lewis Park. Among these activities are the Little League which entails 18 teams with approximately 15 boys to a team, and the supervised park program which entertains 125 or more boys and girls.

THE CHILDREN'S Home benefits from this sale with a Christmas party in which youngsters receive presents and have a chat with Santa Claus. The underprivileged are provided medical care, glasses, clothing, Christmas baskets and many other benefits.

If funds are sufficient recreational equipment in Ted Lewis Park will be reconditioned and park facilities will be improved.

Stevenson outlined his program for catching up with Russia in science Monday night before the New York County Lawyers Assn.

He said the United States and its allies should give new economic help to the weaker areas of Asia and Africa to outmaneuver the Russians there.

It must not be a cautious approach, Stevenson said, but a resolute, nonpartisan determination to lead and stay on course.

He urged that the North Atlantic Treaty Organization be used not only for immediate military needs in meeting the Russian challenge but for a "joint search for a better, safer future."

WASHINGTON (AP)—An educator said today Secretary of Welfare Folsom is supporting a proposal that the federal government spend 287 million dollars a year on aid to education.

Heavy emphasis would be placed on science and mathematics in elementary and high schools. The plan would provide for some 20,000 scholarships a year, financed by the federal government but administered by the states.

G. Kerry Smith, executive secretary of the Assn. for Higher Education, is one of several education leaders who have been meeting in secrecy with U.S. Office of Education officials to work out the plan, which would run four or five years.

7 Unions Join Mass Walkout

Subway Lines Jammed By Desperate Riders

NEW YORK (AP)—New York's millions, who seldom ever find travel easy, ran into incredible difficulties this morning as a mushrooming subway strike made movement almost impossible.

The strike, begun at 5 a.m. Monday by a union representing most of the subway motormen, was joined today by six other unions and service ranged from zero on some lines to one-third on others.

As a result, countless thousands of desperate commuters jammed stations of subway arteries still giving any service and battled like football players to get on trains.

Hundreds of thousands sought vainly to switch to buses and trains operated by commuter railroads leading into Manhattan. Thousands of others sought to get to town in their cars, creating fearful traffic jams.

Travel was at a virtual standstill at many places.

THE GREAT business and industry of New York was hit hard, both from lack of workers and loss of customers during the Christmas shopping season.

The New York Transit Authority, which operates the subways and many bus lines, said there was mass picketing of a bus repair shop and four garages.

The striking motormen's union claims 2,600 of the subway system's 3,167 men who handle controls of the trains which daily carry 4,700,000 riders.

Monday the striking union was joined by conductors, towermen, signal electricians, repair shop mechanics, a coach union and plant workers.

The MBA claimed the union front put 23,000 of the city's 35,000 subway workers on strike.

Meanwhile, transit authority chairman Charles L. Patterson announced that any striking motormen who failed to show up for their jobs by this afternoon will be fired.

He also announced that the authority was offering a bonus of 25 per cent to all operating and maintenance employees who stay at work during the strike.

The authority will provide sleeping and eating facilities at various terminals and plants for those seeking to keep the transit system going.

The authority said these men also will be paid around the clock, receiving time and a half pay for all hours over eight, in addition to the 25 per cent bonus.

Ohio Idle Pay Claims Continuing Increase

$287 Million Yearly Setup For Education Aid Studied

WASHINGTON (AP)—An educator said today Secretary of Welfare Folsom is supporting a proposal that the federal government spend 287 million dollars a year on aid to education.

Heavy emphasis would be placed on science and mathematics in elementary and high schools. The plan would provide for some 20,000 scholarships a year, financed by the federal government but administered by the states.

G. Kerry Smith, executive secretary of the Assn. for Higher Education, is one of several education leaders who have been meeting in secrecy with U.S. Office of Education officials to work out the plan, which would run four or five years.

The AHE is a department of the National Education Assn.

In an article for the Dec. 15 issue of AHE's college and university bulletin, Smith wrote that the program, "designed to help meet the challenge of Soviet scientific advances, is being prepared by the U.S. Office of Education and supported by Secretary Folsom . . . for inclusion in the President's budget message to Congress."

From other sources it was learned that current official thinking is that the new program would take priority over Eisenhower's school construction bill, which has been rebuffed by Congress.

The 287 million dollar figure attached to the new program compares with 451 million dollars requested by the administration for the first year of the proposed school construction program.

Smith said the new program is subject to change but that, as it stands now, it calls for:

1. Allotting 150 million dollars a year to raise the salaries of elementary and secondary school science and mathematics teachers and to provide laboratory equipment.

2. A total of 20 million dollars to uncover high school students with special talents in science and math and to seek to guide them into these critical fields, providing some 20,000 scholarships a year for such students.

3. One hundred millions dollars a year to expand and improve buildings and equipment at two-year technical institutes and at colleges and universities.

4. Twelve million dollars to expand the program of university graduate study already supported by some government agencies, such as the Atomic Energy Commission and the National Science Foundation.

5. Five million dollars to support foreign language instruction centers at universities, and to provide language fellowships.

The proportion of funds which states and institutions might have to put up to go with federal money would vary with different parts of the program.

Jury Expected To Get Lima Case Today

Final Arguments Being Given in Forsythe Hearing

LIMA (AP)—The case of Ralph Forsythe, charged with first degree murder in the slaying of Charles Conner Aug. 10, is expected to go to the jury today.

Only the final arguments of defense attorney Ernest Navarre and prosecutor Anthony J. Bowers remain in the trial, which began Nov. 18.

The prosecution has charged that the 40-year-old Forsythe shot and killed Conner at Forsythe's home during a party on Conner's 37th birthday. Conner's body has never been found.

Monday the assistant prosecutor, John R. Evans, and two of Forsythe's three attorneys made their final arguments.

Evans called two rebuttal witnesses to the stand. Joseph Martino, ballistics expert with the State Bureau of Criminal Identification, told the court that with a few facts as were available in the alleged shooting, it would be scientifically unsound to render an opinion as to what a body would do when hit by a .38 or .45 caliber bullet.

DAVID COWLES, a ballistics expert from Cleveland called Friday by the defense, had said a .45 caliber pistol, fired from the distance Forsythe is supposed to have fired at Conner, would blow a man off his chair.

Martino testified that it would be possible for a body to slump forward as witnesses have testified Conner did after the shot was fired. However, he indicated that every case is different.

The second witness called by Evans did not get to testify, but what he had to say was put into the court record after the jury was excused from the court room.

Carl I. Zarter, a records clerk at Leavenworth Federal Penitentiary, Kan., was about to testify about a blood test given Forsythe when he was serving a sentence at Leavenworth in 1950-1954 when the defense objected.

The defense said Zarter was only a clerk and not the person who gave the test.

Judge Moran Jenkins excused Zarter, but then allowed Evans to report on what Zarter would have said.

Evans said that if Zarter had testified, he would have said that Forsythe has type A blood, according to the test made at Leavenworth in 1950.

Forsythe had testified he has type O blood, the same type that was found in his kitchen and the same, according to Conner's sister, as that of the victim.

Forsythe said he suffered a nose bleed in a fight July 17 and had dripped blood in his kitchen.

Since the jury did not hear Zarter's information, Judge Jenkins ordered them locked up each night in a Lima hotel until a verdict is given, to avoid learning what Zarter might have said.

5 Coal Miners Die As Rocks Cave In

BECKLEY, W. Va. (AP)—Five coal miners were killed Monday night, a few minutes before their work shift was to end, when tons of rock caved in on them inside a southern West Virginia mine.

Three of the bodies were recovered during the night and a fourth sighted in the rubble, officials of the Raleigh-Wyoming Mining Co. said. The fifth body was still being sought.

Company officials blamed the accident on a "mountain bump." They said the pressure from above became so great that the mine roof broke through the heavy timbers holding it up.

U. S. Offering Aid In Indonesia Fuss

JAKARTA (AP)—The United States was reported today offered to mediate the mounting trouble between Indonesia and the Netherlands.

U. S. Ambassador J. M. Allison called on Foreign Minister Subandrio and Premier Djuanda to express Washington's apprehension over the events in Indonesia. Subandrio said Allison offered U. S. help in seeking a solution.

Meanwhile, in Singapore, airline officials said tonight a special British plane sent to Jakarta to pick up Dutch evacuees in returning to Singapore empty.

An airport spokesman said he understood the Indonesians refused to permit the Dutch to board the BOAC plane in Jakarta.

The spokesman could give no explanation for the reported Indonesian action. Earlier reports from Jakarta said the normally slow Indonesian immigration service was issuing exit visas with "lightning speed" to the prospective evacuees.

FIFTY - FIVE persons, mostly women and children, were scheduled to travel to Singapore aboard the BOAC Argonaut. A Dutch spokesman said it would be the first of many evacuation flights planned for the immediate future.

Dutch evacuees poured into Jakarta from Bandung, Bogor, Semarang, Sumatra and other points in the Indies. Although cheerful, all showed the strain of leaving their homes, jobs and belongings for an uncertain future. But most said they were anxious to leave as soon as possible.

Indonesia has demanded that all Dutch citizens except skilled technicians leave the country. Many of them are Eurasians who have lived here all their lives.

Some 46,000 Dutch citizens still live in Indonesia. Communist trade unions took over four more large Dutch firms including the Phillips radio and appliances factory. The Indonesian government was expected to follow up by taking over control from the unions, reinstating the Dutch managers to run them.

The Dutch firms in Jakarta which have not been seized are mostly small businesses — bookshops, retailers and garages.

Senator Calls For All-Out Missile Budget

Californian Believes People 'Demanding' Action at Any Cost

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Kuchel (R-Calif.) said today the American people are "demanding that this country forge ahead in the missile field, no matter what it may cost."

And, he added, in his judgment Congress is ready to vote defense money "on any reasonable considered and justified basis."

The senator spoke as members of the staff of the Senate Preparedness subcommittee prepared for the reopening of hearings Friday into the nation's missile-satellite programs.

Defense officials will be questioned at length on the failure last Friday of the Vanguard rocket, a 72-foot device with which the Navy attempted to put the first U. S. earth satellite into orbit.

The Office of Naval Research, which has jurisdiction over Vanguard, reported it had determined the exact cause of the rocket's failure at the Cape Canaveral, Fla., test area.

THE MISFIRE "was caused by a mechanical failure in the propulsion system, details of which are classified," the Navy said.

The failure of the Vanguard rocket stirred new congressional demands for acceleration of the satellite and missiles programs. Pressure for a speedup has been building since Oct. 4 when Russia launched its first satellite, Sputnik.

The chief assistant to President Eisenhower, Sherman Adams, said however, that the Vanguard failure was not as serious as some people think.

"I can't throw much light on the subject," he said. "But we'll have it straightened out before long. What we want is action and better luck next time."

Meanwhile, it was reported in London that Britain and the United States were nearing a new agreement to locate at least four bases in Britain for U. S. medium range rockets.

British officials said U. S. Secretary of Defense McElroy had given new promise that the United States would never launch a nuclear attack from its bases in England without first consulting the British government.

It is known that U. S. proposals for setting up other rocket bases in Europe already have been placed before the permanent NATO Council in Paris.

Jury Expected To Get Lima Case Today

Final Arguments Being Given in Forsythe Hearing

LIMA (U-P)—The case of Ralph Forsythe, charged with first degree murder in the slaying of Charles Conner Aug. 10, is expected to go to the jury today.

Only the final arguments of defense attorney Ernest Navarre and prosecutor Anthony J. Bowers remain in the trial, which began Nov. 18.

The prosecution has charged that the 40-year-old Forsythe shot and killed Conner at Forsythe's home during a party on Conner's 37th birthday. Conner's body has never been found.

Monday the assistant prosecutor, John R. Evans, and two of Forsythe's three attorneys made their final arguments.

Evans called two rebuttal witnesses to the stand.

Joseph Martino, ballistics expert with the State Bureau of Criminal Identification, told the court that with as few facts as were available in the alleged shooting, it would be scientifically unsound to render an opinion as to what a body would do when hit by a .38 or .45 caliber bullet.

DAVID COWLES, a ballistics expert from Cleveland called Friday by the defense, had said a .45 caliber pistol, fired from the distance Forsythe is supposed to have fired at Conner, would blow a man off his chair.

Martino testified that it would be possible for a body to slump forward as witnesses have testified Conner did after the shot was fired. However, he indicated that every case is different.

The second witness called by Evans did not get to testify, but what he had to say was put into the court record after the jury was excused from the court room.

Carl I. Zarter, a records clerk at Leavenworth Federal Penitentiary, Kan., was about to testify about a blood test given Forsythe when he was serving a sentence at Leavenworth in 1950-1954 when the defense objected.

The defense said Zarter was only a clerk and not the person who gave the test.

Judge Moran Jenkins excused Zarter, but then allowed Evans to report on what Zarter would have said.

Evans said that if Zarter had testified, he would have said that Forsythe has type A blood, according to the test made at Leavenworth in 1950.

Forsythe had testified he has type O blood, the same type that was found in his kitchen and the same, according to Conner's sister, as that of the victim.

Forsythe said he suffered a nose bleed in a fight July 17 and had dripped blood in his kitchen. Since the jury did not hear Zarter's information, Judge Jenkins ordered them locked up each night in a Lima hotel until a verdict is given, to avoid learning what Zarter might have said.

5 Coal Miners Die As Rocks Cave In

BECKLEY, W. Va. (U-P)—Five coal miners were killed Monday night, a few minutes before their work shift was to end, when tons of rock caved in on them inside a southern West Virginia mine.

Three of the bodies were recovered during the night and a fourth sighted in the rubble, officials of the Raleigh-Wyoming Mining Co. said. The fifth body was still being sought.

U. S. Offering Aid In Indonesia Fuss

JAKARTA (U-P)—The United States was reported today offered to mediate the mounting trouble between Indonesia and the Netherlands.

U. S. Ambassador J. M. Allison called on Foreign Minister Subandrio and Premier Djuanda to express Washington's apprehension over the events in Indonesia. Subandrio said Allison offered U. S. help in seeking a solution.

Meanwhile, in Singapore, airline officials said tonight a special British plane sent to Jakarta to pick up Dutch evacuees in returning to Singapore empty.

An airport spokesman said he understood the Indonesians refused to permit the Dutch to board the BOAC plane in Jakarta.

The spokesman could give no explanation for the reported Indonesian action. Earlier reports from Jakarta said the normally slow Indonesian immigration service was issuing exit visas with "lightning speed" to the prospective evacuees.

FIFTY-FIVE persons, mostly women and children, were scheduled to travel to Singapore aboard the BOAC Argonaut. A Dutch spokesman said it would be the first of many evacuation flights planned for the immediate future.

Dutch evacuees poured into Jakarta from Bandung, Bogor, Semarang, Sumatra and other points in the Indies. Although cheerful, all showed the strain of leaving their homes, jobs and belongings for an uncertain future. But most said they were anxious to leave as soon as possible.

Indonesia has demanded that all Dutch citizens except skilled technicians leave the country. Many of them are Eurasians who have lived here all their lives.

Some 46,000 Dutch citizens still live in Indonesia.

Communist trade unions took over four more large Dutch firms including the Phillips radio and appliances factory. The Indonesian government was expected to follow up by taking over control from the unions, reinstating the Dutch managers to run them.

The Dutch firms in Jakarta which have not been seized are mostly small businesses—bookshops, retailers and garages.

Throat Malady Fells Deputy D. E. Radcliff

Dwight Radcliff, chief deputy of the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department, was admitted to Berger Hospital last night for a severe throat infection.

According to his father, Sheriff Charles H. Radcliff, the throat condition is requiring intravenous feeding.

The popular deputy was stricken Saturday after working long hours last week on a Tink's Tavern burglary.

Fellow deputies said the acute cold could have been caused early Wednesday morning when Radcliff was walking in the snow with no boots on.

The deputy was called to the tavern about 4 a. m. when it was learned the establishment was being burglarized. Radcliff was in such a hurry to get to the scene that he forgot to tie his shoe laces.

Ashville FTA Slates Many School Jobs

Tutoring Program Proves Helpful To Youngsters

The Carl Higley Future Teachers of America Club at Ashville-Harrison Schools has many projects for the year 1957-58. The club is under the direction of Miss Nelle Oesterle and officers David Stuck, president; Rosalie Wheeler, vice-president; Mary Jo Bowers, secretary; Velma Kuhn, treasurer, and Sharon Cook, librarian. There are twenty-six members in the club.

Advisor, Nelle Oesterle and members, David Stuck, Alice Baum, Wanda Lemaster, Rosalie Wheeler and Barbara Chaffin attended the FTA Fall Conference held at Ohio State University. There it was learned that Ashville's club was the only FTA in Ohio which has a program of helping tutor students in the first eight grades.

Teachers of the student teaching program are Barbara Chaffin, Rosalie Wheeler, Carolyn, Peggy Lamont, Sharon Cook, Pat Lindsey, Marlene Younkin, Wanda Lemaster and Jackie Brannon. These students are using study hall periods to tutor.

Fifty-three students are receiving help. There are approximately six students to each student teacher. The grade school teachers have been of help in providing books and cards. The teachers feel that the younger students are learning under their student instructors.

The club is collecting food, toys and clothing. These articles will be distributed to the needy for Christmas.

Basketball Changes At Ashville

The Reserve basketball team of Ashville-Harrison School has gone through a series of changes this year. Freshmen and sophomores only are allowed to play on the team. There is no duplication of reserves playing on the varsity team. Fifteen boys are on the reserve squad; nine freshmen and sophomores. According to Coach Benz Lutz, the top prospects for the year are freshmen Jim Franks and Dick Noggle and sophomore Dale Fout. The other players are expected to improve by the end of the season.

"The reserve team is very inexperienced," Lutz said. "Our main concern is getting the boys prepared to play varsity ball. We try to get as many players as possible into each game. Although no player is outstanding, we expect to win our share of games."

Sophomores Selling Project

The Sophomore class at Ashville is making Christmas corsages which they are selling for 50 cents. For information call Carol Pritchard, Ashville 5145.

"ALMOST, BUT NOT ENOUGH" is our verdict on how close competitive cars have come to matching the Sweep-Wing 58. Take style. Other new cars are "almost" as low in inches, but still seem high and boxy in looks. Some of them are "almost" going to fins, but not enough to really make a difference. Then take performance. None of the other 1958 cars have anything to match the sway-free, dip-free, vibration-free ride of Torsion-Aire. (It's standard equipment.) Most of them still don't even have push-button driving! So after you've seen the "almost" cars, come in and drive a Sweep-Wing 58. You'll see why we say: They're catching on, but they can't catch up.

Price Index Leveling Off

For the first time in 14 months, the latest consumer price index shows no increase. What is more important, it seems to be in the process of leveling off. The Federal Reserve System is in a position to argue back at its critics who said that its tight money policy wouldn't halt inflation. That policy was recently eased in the hope of stimulating production.

The consumer price index is considered a rough measure of the cost of living — but only a rough measure. The items on it — food, housing, clothes, transportation, medical and personal care, reading, recreation and "other"—are all more or less necessities.

Goods and services that are more or less luxuries are, in fact, part of what most American families consider their cost of living, but the proportion varies widely even for families in the same income brackets. When prices rise, most families spent somewhat less on luxuries and may also do thriftier buying on essentials.

But inflation—dollar prices going up and the dollar going down in buying power—is not a new phenomenon. In 1914 the consumer price index (based on 1947-49 average as 100) stood at roughly 42. By 1921 it had jumped to 90. From that point it slid back slowly until 1929 and then dropped back fast to reach bottom at 55 in 1933.

Now it is at a peak of 121, which is 288 per cent of the 1914 level. That is, the 1957 dollar bill buy what 35 cents would have bought in 1914. If incomes hadn't been going up, too, such inflation would have reduced living standards by almost two-thirds. But incomes have risen faster than prices. Average hourly earnings in manufacturing rose from about 22 cents in 1914 to $2.07 this year. Merely keeping pace, they would have risen only to 63 cents.

If the various figures were exactly comparable—they are not largely because of income taxes—this would indicate an approximate tripling of living standards in the last 43 years.

Muses from Mr. Murgatroyd

By Hal Boyle

By ED CREAGH
(For Hal Boyle)

WASHINGTON (AP)—"A man," said Mr. Murgatroyd suddenly, "is only as old as his wife feels."

"Then I'm getting you a wheelchair for Christmas," said Mrs. Murgatroyd, laying aside her embroidery. "If this is going to be one of those evenings when you're in your philosopher mood, I think I'll address those Christmas cards you were going to do last night."

"Procrastination," mused Mr. Murgatroyd, "is the thief of time. Yet time is money. Therefore procrastination is the thief of money, which is ridiculous. Most men make their money while putting off the things they really want to do."

"That's one mistake you never made," murmured Mrs. Murgatroyd, busy with stamps, cards and envelopes. "You didn't bother to have any money in the first place. I wonder if last year's address is still right for the Nibbicks, or did he take that job in Pasadena?"

"Just address it in care of his psychiatrist," said Mr. Murgatroyd. "A psychiatrist is a man you can afford to go to because you worked so hard you need a psychiatrist."

"Some people," said Mrs. Murgatroyd with dark emphasis, "would go to a psychiatrist simply for the chance to lie down on a couch. The least you could do is get up and stamp these envelopes."

"A human being," said Mr. Murgatroyd, wriggling comfortably, "is too complex and valuable an organism to undertake what a bit of sponge and a saucer of water could do better. Have you ever wondered how many woman-hours you have wasted in licking stamps? Think of the books you could have read in that time, the walks in the snow you could have taken."

"The last time you and I walked in the snow," said Mrs. Murgatroyd, a trifle grimly, "was all the way to the corner mailbox. You wore those old boots that are too small for you, and got blisters on both heels, and took to your bed for three days."

"Suffering," meditated Mr. Murgatroyd, "refines the soul. If not the heel."

"There are some heels I know," said Mrs. Murgatroyd, jabbing a fairly savage period to a jolly yuletide greeting, "who could do with a little refinement, if you get my meaning."

"Meaning," echoed Mr. Murgatroyd. "What is the meaning of snowflake, a child's tear—both drops of moisture, and yet—"

"And yet," re-echoed Mrs. Murgatroyd, "you'll have tears streaming down the cheeks of a perfectly good nephew if you don't soon get off thatavenport and buy the electric train you promised him."

"Punctuality," sighed Mr. Murgatroyd. "The thief of pleasure. Why must everything be done on time? Why must Christmas gifts arrive by Dec. 25? Why must everybody celebrate Christmas the same day anyhow? Why not a dozen Christmases? A hundred?"

Do Away With Fatty Foods

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

You can do a lot to protect your family's health right at the dinner table.

Heart disease, as you have been advised time and time again, is the nation's number one killer as far as diseases are concerned. Some 400,000 Americans are stricken every year.

We've long recognized the fact that the principal villain in the heart disease picture is cholesterol. This is a fatty alcohol which enters our blood through the foods we eat, primarily fatty foods.

It is part of the fatty compounds which we call beta-lipoproteins. These element gathers on the walls of the arteries and gradually closes them off, making it more and more difficult for the heart to circulate the blood.

We eat an average of 1,095 meals a year, give or take a few. And how often do we eat fatty foods at these meals? See the connection?

Dr. Norman Jolliffe, famed New York nutritionist, places the responsibility for stamping out a large percentage of heart disease squarely upon the housewife.

As a guide for planning more healthy menus, he lists the following rules:

Consume adequate amounts of high value protein foods, such as fresh and canned fish, tuna in oil, sardines, mackerel, meat, poultry and nonfat milk and cottage cheese.

Leave the visible fat of the meat on your plate. Bake, roast, broil or boil your meats, poultry and fish.

Restrict use of butter or margarine as table spreads to infrequent occasions. Do the same with fried foods and high fat desserts such as ice cream, cake and pastries.

Restrict fat milk consumption to its use in coffee and on cereals. Restrict visible fat consumption to one ounce a day. Included in this amount should be butter and other table spreads and salad and cooking oils.

Make up calorie deficiencies with bread, potatoes, vegetables and fruits.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP)—The main point in this country's meeting with its allies in Paris next week is not whether President Eisenhower can go there but what this country has to offer there in the way of ideas.

This government—judging from reports leaking out on the administration's thinking—isn't going to propose anything very new, bold or imaginative to its partners in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Secretary of State Dulles, starting to prepare for this meeting a month ago, looked around for some new and dramatic concept to strengthen the alliance. It is understood he didn't find what he sought.

Yet this NATO meeting comes at a moment of utmost seriousness for the Western Allies and at a time when reports from Europe indicate a dwindling faith in Eisenhower's leadership and Dulles' ability.

Eisenhower's doctors, checking him over today, will determine whether he has recovered enough from his mild stroke to make the trip. If the answer is no, Vice President Nixon no doubt will go in Eisenhower's place.

Eisenhower's appearance in Paris, besides testifying to his quick recovery, might provide some dramatic color to the meeting and demonstrate his realization of its importance.

But if he goes to Paris, and then because of his health, has to restrict his activity, it might in the end be more effective if Nixon, physically able to devote full time to the problems, went instead.

The Russians' Sputniks, startling evidence of Russia's scientific progress, shocked the West Europeans, who live next door to the Soviets and would be in range of Russian intermediate range missiles if war began. This is disturbing.

So is their realization of the progress the Russians have been making in the Middle East—Europe's main oil source—at a time when Western influence has been decaying there.

In addition there have been splits among the Allies. For example: between the French and their American and British friends over arms shipments to Tunisia, next door to Algeria where France is fighting revolt.

This country reportedly has rejected any plan for working with NATO to win the Middle East from Russia with a broad, Allied economic plan although the United States next year plans to step up foreign aid worldwide.

Nor is likely this country will offer anything in the way of pulling the West Europeans closer together politically. Apparently the main American proposals will be military. For example:

Trying to get the allies to let this country have bases for missiles which could offset a Russian missile threat, although the American missiles can't be delivered to Europe before 1958.

Petrograd, food became plentiful. As our train stopped in city after city, we ate very well. True, the people were worried and frightened but they were pleased that they had been taken out of the war which they had come to hate.

Everywhere I found courageous people who expected that in a few months order would be restored. By order, however, they did not mean anything concrete. They did not want the Czar. They did not want Lenin and Trotsky. They did not want Kerensky. They did not know what they wanted. It was precisely this negative attitude that gave Lenin his strength. He moved in upon a bewildered people and gave them the Leninist concept of Marxism, a way of life.

In 1955, the United States issued in France a pamphlet entitled "L'Economie Americaine" which is the most unbelievable document ever produced. It is supposed to describe American capitalism. Apparently the mid-20th Century form of capitalism in the United States is to be measured by the widespread ownership of the stock of companies. In what manner is this different from any other period? Also what is the objection to small or family businesses?

Are we to be ashamed of the great material advances made by American capitalism up to 1933 or did the world begin in that year? How do we expect Europeans to respect us when our propaganda is based on the statement that the capitalism that Marx described in 1848 is a far cry from the capitalism enjoyed in the United States today? Is that true?

2 Newcomers In Plastics Getting Study

Latest Products Sure
To Play Havoc with Competitive Setup

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Two newcomers are stepping out in the competitive race within the still growing plastic industry.

Latest is a jawbreaker, Polypropylene, which the Hercules Powder Co. here and the Montecatini chemical firm in Italy are putting on the market. It is taken to the fastest growing plastic of all, polyethylene, which you know as a cover for meat and vegetables and as a squeeze bottle.

Hercules is starting production of polypropylene at a Parlin, N.J., plant with a 20 million pound annual capacity. The initial price is 65 cents a pound, with hopes of a less costly product later through production economies. Other American companies are known to be considering jumping into the field through the patent license route.

The new plastic, made from a byproduct of gasoline refining, melts at high temperatures but retains its strength at temperatures well above the boiling point of water. Possible uses: in pipes, molded auto parts and appliances.

Earlier in the year Celanese Corp. of America began producing in Houston the other new plastic, variously known as linear, high density or low pressure polyethylene. It says the newcomer, now being made in commercial or pilot form by 13 other companies, exceeds the older high pressure polyethylene in rigidity, strength and heat resistance. For example, a baby's bottle made of the old type melts in hot water. Made of the new it doesn't.

The newcomers now showing up in the consumer market in some housewares and toys. The low pressure variety also aims at pipes and fittings, cable insulation, auto parts, industrial housings, and even panels for house walls and curtain walls for skyscrapers.

Present capacity for making the low pressure variety is 250 million pounds a year and the price is 47 cents a pound, which may be lowered with mass production.

There are several patented processes for making the low pressure type.

Both Celanese and Bakelite Division of Union Carbide use one developed by Phillips Chemical, as

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: My husband's name is perfectly ghastly. In fact I still shudder to use it for my own. He is the third in the family line to bear the name although few of his friends ever call him by it. Mostly it is a legal and business signature.

Now we are anxiously awaiting our first child. And should it be a boy, my husband insists he "carry on" the family name, as a tribute to his late grandfather whom he worshipped. But I object for several reasons.

I dislike the name so intensely that it would be a constant affront to my feelings to raise a son thus named. It would mean that we would have to coin a nickname for the child—as was done for my husband, his father and his grandfather. In fact my husband prefers to be known by his nickname.

Most of all, I consider it unfair of parents to hang an archaic name on a child and label him for life because of somebody long dead. I consider it particularly selfish when the name is obviously out of the past—an ancient echo in a new age.

My husband and I have debated this many times, and each debate has ended in a draw. The tragedy is that neither of us wants to hurt or disappoint the other; yet neither can we concede, feeling as strongly as we do. Even attempts at compromise fail.

I've suggested keeping part of the family name, using it as a middle name for a son. But Jack insists, and I see his point, that there's no sense using any part of the grandfather's name unless we use it all. Of course we might very well have only girls; and friends suggest we wait and see. But we want the matter settled now, because Phillips and W. R. Grace & Co.

Dow Chemical, Du Pont, Hercules Powder, Koppers and Monsanto Chemical have licenses for the Ziegler process developed in Germany, and Bakelite also is in on this.

Indiana Standard Oil has a third process which it also has licensed to Eastman Chemical Products and Spencer Chemical.

Three companies—Allied Chemical, Du Pont and National Petrochemicals—have processes of their own.

fore the baby's here. Can you propose a solution?

C. Y.

DEAR C.Y.: I suppose a case might be made for pooh-poohing this debate as ridiculous. And of course, one could be trite and recall the poet's exclamation: "What's in a name? A rose by any other name would smell as sweet."

And yet I've heard a great psychiatric specialist say that names have profound significance; that the name of a person or thing enters into his (or its) character, somehow. Didn't the ancient seers believe this too?

If you turn to the glossary of "common English Christian names" usually to be found in the appendix section of Webster's dictionaries, you will see that many of these names are linked to synonymous meanings. As for example: Patrick—noble, a patrician. David—beloved. Sophia—wisdom. And so on.

Also the practice in the Christian community of conferring saints names upon children at baptism or confirmation suggests an innate religious sense (or intuitive cognition) in mankind, that names relate to qualities or states of being.

Thus I for one am inclined to respect your urgent conviction that a child's name is a vitally important consideration, and should be reckoned as such, in launching him in life. And that he shouldn't be saddled with an intrinsically "ghastly" moniker, just because a valiant ancestor managed to bear it with distinction.

Maybe the ugly name was the notable ancestor's special cross. But why, therefore, visit it on a great grandchild, whose hairshirt assignment may be of a different sort, in the grand design of the universe.

It strikes me as a bankrupt form of snobbery, to keep repeating so-called family names, generation after generation—in implicit insistence that one's ancestors were somebody, away back when. More to the point is what's being accomplished by said forebear's descendants, in the here-and-now. If one must boast by inference, why not cleave to the present reality? And if the present admits of nothing to boast about, why not just let the whole subject drop?

If your firstborn is a son, name him for himself—for the qualities and opportunities that your best hopes would wish for him.

'Big Sister' Program Aids Newcomers to Capital Jobs

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Right from the sticks and green, Mrs. Elizabeth Puryear arrived in Washington from North Carolina in 1933 to work as a government employee.

Before the end of the first day, she was ready to turn around and head back again.

"About four days' of work was laid out for me," she recalled. "Something was brewing like a hill of ants and the men were all asking for service. I didn't know from nothing what to do."

She learned the hard way. Her early experience, and that of many other G-girls, pointed up the necessity for some "kind of program to acquaint a newcomer with what she was required to do in her job." In the U. S. Forestry Service, where she became head of the stenographic division, Mrs. Puryear began setting up a training group and for many years has been the agency's counselor for women secretarial workers. Then in 1940 under a program called the "Orientation Plan for Washington Office Girls," Forestry initiated a "sponsor program."

The sponsor serves as "Big Sister" to the newcomer during induction training, Mrs. Puryear explains.

The plan has been adopted by other bureaus of the Department of Agriculture and agencies of the government.

"The first purpose of the sponsor program," Mrs. Puryear told me, "is to keep a new girl from feeling like a little pebble in a big puddle. The program makes a girl feel she's a part of the organization immediately."

The sponsors committee is made up of about six women selected from various departments of the Washington office of the forestry service to serve for two years.

Sponsors with kindred interests and of the same age group are selected to extend a helping hand to each new girl coming to work for the service. The sponsor takes the girl to lunch, shows her how to find her way around the 12 miles of Agriculture's corridors, shows her how to get around town on a street car, or bus, gives her an organization chart with pictures of the Forestry Service's chief, R. E. McArdle, eight assistant chiefs, 24 division directors, 10 regional directors and 12 station directors, as well as an explanation of major activities.

"That's so she'll know what's what and who's who," says Mrs. Puryear.

Mrs. Archer Elected President

The Calvary Evangelical United Brethren Crusaders class met in the home of the Rev. and Mrs. Dale Rough for the December meeting. Mrs. Clark Zwyer was the assisting hostess.

Dale DeLong led in prayer and devotion for the evening. Members were asked to mail Mrs. Katie Ludsford, a patient at Audreys Nursing Home, a card for her recent birthday.

The class will purchase gifts for seven patients at this rest home at Christmas.

Baskets will also be fixed for the church shut-ins at Christmas, and delivered when the class goes caroling on December 22.

A Christmas card was signed by each member to mail to Maxine Stevens, a member who is in the armed service. A gift will also be purchased for her at Christmas.

A poinsettia plant will be selected to help decorate the church, and later taken to some member on the shut-in list. A motion was passed to donate $10 to help in purchasing toys for the nursery department.

Redlegs Book 45 of 77 Home Games at Night

Philadelphia Scheduled To Be Foe for Opener In Cincinnati April 15

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati Redlegs will play 45 of their 77 home games in the 1958 season at night.

However, that's an increase of only one over the 1957 night program.

The Redleg home schedule, announced today, calls for the season opener against Philadelphia on April 15. It will be something new, of course, for Cincinnati to be opening the season against an eastern club.

A realignment of the National League, brought about by the transfer of the Giants and Dodgers from New York and Brooklyn to San Francisco and Los Angeles, has placed the Reds in the loop's eastern division along with the Phils, Pittsburgh and Milwaukee.

After that traditional home opener, the Reds will be away until April 23 when they will open their night schedule against World Champion Milwaukee. After that, the night games come often.

There will be one string of five in a row in June and another string of six straight later in the same month.

The schedule calls for 12 Sunday dates with doubleheaders being played on 8 of them. The Fourth of July will be the only "at home" holiday for Cincinnati and Pittsburgh will be played that day in a single game.

Milwaukee and San Francisco each will play eight night games here. St. Louis, Los Angeles and Chicago are scheduled for seven night tilts each and Pittsburgh and Philadelphia for four each.

The season will be more than a month old before Cincinnatians see the Giants and Dodgers as representatives of San Francisco and Los Angeles. The Giants will be here May 20 and 21 and the Dodgers for the next three playing dates.

Cincinnati will wind up its home season on Sept. 21 against Milwaukee.

Except for the opening game of the season, all single afternoon games will start at 1:30 p.m. and doubleheaders at 1 p.m. Two-night doubleheaders will start at 6 p.m. and night single games at 8 p.m. The opening game traditionally starts at 2:30 p.m.

Here is the Redlegs' home schedule:

Ryff Finally Wins Without Bleeding

NEW YORK (AP)—Frankie Ryff cheerfully surrendered his "bleeding" championship today to Frankie Ippolito and set his sights on the lightweight title.

For the first time in three years the rangy 25-year-old New Yorker came out of a fight without any cuts over his eyes. Making his first start in eight months, after an operation for removal of scar tissue over both eyes, Ryff easily outpointed and chopped up Ippolito in a 10-round here.

Ippolito, a Bronx rival of Ryff's, bled from the nose from two lacerations over his left eye. He will require about 10 stitches.

Game Warden Given Applause

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Scientists in game management were advised Monday not to look down upon the hard-working game warden.

The advice was given by a panel of conservation experts at the opening meeting of the Midwest Wildlife Conference, attended by Representatives of 12 states and two Canadian provinces.

The term "game warden", employed commonly by the public, was avoided during the discussion of conservation law enforcement.

Charles A. Dambach, Ohio State University wildlife expert, said: "Wildlife technicians should recognize that law enforcement work can be on just as high an intellectual level as technical work."

New Holland's Lininger Eyes Scoring Lead with 21.3 Mark

Scrappy Roger Knapp still leads the Pickaway County basketball players in point average after three weeks of play for most teams. Knapp's average took a dip after Scioto's Friday night loss to Ashville as he equalled his low for season with 19 points, dropping his average to 25.7.

Ronny Guthell missed his chance to creep up on the leader by also hitting his low of the season with 18 points as his ball club topped Williamsport. Guthell carries a 22.6 average.

Johnny Lininger began pushing the leaders, increasing his average to 21.3 as he tallied 24 points in a New Holland victory over Monroe, 59 to 42.

Ned Musselman continued holding his fourth place position as he upped it three tenths of a point to 19.3 with a 20-point total in Darby's 68 to 35 win over the Deers of Williamsport.

Chuck Galloway jumped from 12th position to fifth with a 24-point spree in Jackson's heart-breaking 55 to 54 loss to Pickaway. Galloway sports an 18.5 average.

Valentine barely dropped from the top five with an 18.1 point average as he scored 17 points against his own Saltcreek alumni.

MYERS WITH A 17.5 average and Max Reeser, 15.5 of Williamsport, equalled Darby and Saltcreek by placing two men in the top ten.

Murray remained in the top ten with a 16.2 average as he tallied 21 points in Saltcreek's 56 to 52 win last Friday night.

Boyd Barr rounds out the leading 10 scorers with a 16-point average as he scored 14 points in Walnut's 71 to 34 slaughter of hapless Atlanta who has yet to have a man break into the top 20.

Grange Gains 54-50 IL Win

Williamsport Five Topples Plastics

Williamsport and Nebraska Grange were victors in Industrial League basketball last night at the Fairgrounds Coliseum.

The Deercreek cagers blasted Lincoln Plastics, 59-30, and the Grange five edged Stoutsville in a close one, 54-50.

Williamsport was never in trouble after gaining a 20-10 first-half lead. Tim Timberlake was high for the winners with 16 points and McPherson had 12. Henson was high for Plastics with 12.

Although they led 24-20 at half-time, the Grangers were hard pressed to stop Stoutsville in the last two frames. Stoutsville hit for 22 points in the third quarter to go ahead, 42-36, but the winners collected 18 in the last stanza to gain a final margin.

DELBERT Neff paced the Grangers with 14 tallies and Carpenter had 11. Morrison with 13 and Justice and Marshall with 12 each led Stoutsville.

In loop games played Sunday Veterans of Foreign Wars remained undefeated by topping Ashville, 54-40, unbeaten Yingling Hybrids edged Stoutsville, 38-34 and General Electric stopped Lincoln Plastics, 43-39.

Three more games are on tap Sunday at the Coliseum. General Electric meets Chillicothe River Oil, VFW tangles in a crucial game with Yingling Hybrids and Circleville Merchants battle Ashville.

USTA Alters Rule On Track Members

COLUMBUS (AP)—A change in the bylaws of the U. S. Trotting Assn. adopted Monday by its directors is believed to have sidestepped possible future tangles with federal anti-trust laws.

The change, passed unanimously, eliminates compulsory track membership in the USTA, parent body of the harness racing sport. The new rule sets up an alternative to membership — a contractual arrangement between the USTA and a track under which the track would receive USTA serv-

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

No sooner are Frank McGuire's North Carolina Tar Heels tabbed again as the nation's No. 1 team than a flock of potent challengers turn up.

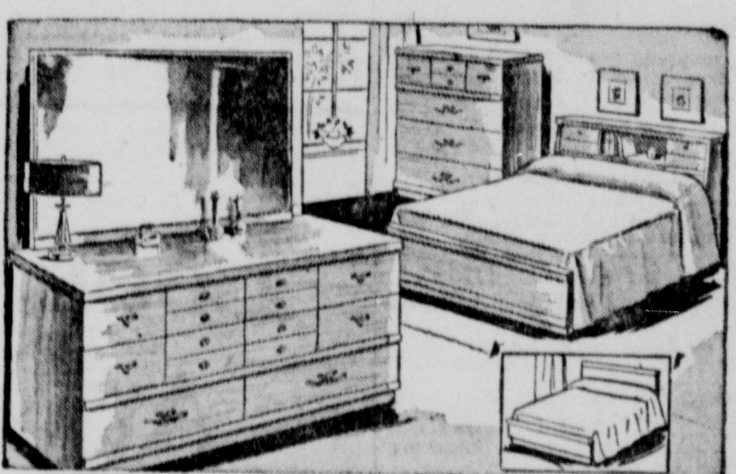

Maryland, bouncing Kentucky 71-62, and Cincinnati, romping 80-57 over a Temple team regarded as about tops in the East, fired the strongest playing - court protests last night to the way the nation's experts rated the teams in the first weekly Associated Press poll of the new campaign.

North Carolina, drawing 41 of 171 first-place votes and 1,018 points, led the first AP reckoning in a close race with Kansas, which drew 34 firsts and 965 points. Rounding out the top 10 were Kentucky, Bradley, Kansas State, San Francisco, Michigan State, West Virginia, St. Louis and Temple—in that order.

Redlegs Book 45 of 77 Home Games at Night

Philadelphia Scheduled To Be Foe for Opener In Cincinnati April 15

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Redlegs will play 45 of their 77 home games in the 1958 season at night.

However, that's an increase of only one over the 1957 night program.

The Redleg home schedule, announced today, calls for the season opener against Philadelphia on April 15. It will be something new, of course, for Cincinnati to be opening the season against an eastern club.

A realignment of the National League, brought about by the transfer of the Giants and Dodgers from New York and Brooklyn to San Francisco and Los Angeles, has placed the Reds in the loop's eastern division along with the Phils, Pittsburgh and Milwaukee.

After that traditional home opener, the Reds will be away until April 23 when they will open their night schedule against World Champion Milwaukee. After that, the night games come often.

There will be one string of five in a row in June and another string of six straight later in the same month.

The schedule calls for 12 Sunday dates with doubleheaders being played on 8 of them. The fourth of July will be the only "at home" holiday for Cincinnati and Pittsburgh will be played that day in a single game.

Milwaukee and San Francisco each will play eight night games here. St. Louis, Los Angeles and Chicago are scheduled for seven night tilts each and Pittsburgh and Philadelphia for four each.

The season will be more than a month old before Cincinnatians see the Giants and Dodgers as representatives of San Francisco and Los Angeles. The Giants will be here May 20 and 21 and the Dodgers for the next three playing dates.

Cincinnati will wind up its home season on Sept. 21 against Milwaukee.

Except for the opening game of the season, all single afternoon games will start at 1:30 p.m. and doubleheaders at 1 p.m. Two-night doubleheaders will start at 6 p.m. and night single games at 8 p.m. The opening game traditionally starts at 2:30 p.m.

Here is the Redlegs' home schedule:

April 15-Philadelphia; April 23 (n), 24 (n)-Milwaukee; April 25 (n), 26, 27, 28-Pittsburgh; April 29 (n), 30 (n) St. Louis.

Ryff Finally Wins Without Bleeding

NEW YORK (AP)—Frankie Ryff cheerfully surrendered his "bleeding" championship today to Frankie Ippolito and set his sights on the lightweight title.

For the first time in three years the rangy 25-year-old New Yorker came out of a fight without any cuts over his eyes. Making his first start in eight months, after an operation for removal of scar tissue over both eyes, Ryff easily outpointed and chopped up Ippolito in a 10-round here.

Ippolito, a Bronx rival of Ryff's, bled from the nose from two slashes over his left eye. He will require about 10 stitches.

New Holland's Lininger Eyes Scoring Lead with 21.3 Mark

Scrappy Roger Knapp still leads the Pickaway County basketball players in point average after three weeks of play for most teams. Knapp's average took a dip after Scioto's Friday night loss to Ashville as he equalled his low for season with 19 points, dropping his average to 25.7.

Ronny Guthell missed his chance to creep up on the leader by also hitting his low of the season with 18 points as his ball club topped Williamsport. Guthell carried a 22.6 average.

Mid-Am Chiefs Shun End-of-Season Tourney

COLUMBUS (AP)—Regular season competition alone will decide the Mid-American Conference championship during the 1957-58 basketball season.

A proposal to hold a four-team tournament at the end of the season was voted down by faculty representatives and athletic directors meeting here Monday.

The group also adopted a new rule requiring home teams to wear colored jerseys and visiting teams to wear white. The colors were reversed under the old rule.

Grange Gains 54-50 IL Win

Williamsport Five Topples Plastics

Williamsport and Nebraska Grange were victors in Industrial League basketball last night at the Fairgrounds Coliseum.

The Deercreek cagers blasted Lincoln Plastics, 59-30, and the Grange five edged Stoutsville in a close one, 54-50.

Williamsport was never in trouble after gaining a 20-10 first-half lead. Tim Timberlake was high for the winners with 16 points and McPherson had 12. Henson was high for Plastics with 12.

Although they led 24-20 at half-time, the Grangers were hard pressed to stop Stoutsville in the last two frames. Stoutsville hit for 22 points in the third quarter to go ahead, 42-36, but the winners collected 18 in the last stanza to gain a final margin.

DELBERT Neff paced the Grangers with 14 tallies and Carpenter had 11. Morrison with 13 and Justice and Marshall with 12 each led Stoutsville.

In loop games played Sunday Veterans of Foreign Wars remained undefeated by topping Ashville, 54-40, unbeaten Yingling Hybrids edged Stoutsville, 38-34 and General Electric stopped Lincoln Plastics, 43-39.

Three more games are on tap Sunday at the Coliseum. General Electric meets Chillicothe River Oil, VFW tangles in a crucial game with Yingling Hybrids and Circleville Merchants battle Ashville.

Michigan Keglers Leading Tourney

CHICAGO (AP)—A pair of rugged competitors from Michigan led into the head-to-head match play finals of the first World's Invitation Bowling Tournament today in the Chicago Coliseum.

Eddie Lubanski, former minor league pitcher from Detroit, and Marion Ladewig, six time all-star champion from Grand Rapids, set the pace for the 32 bowlers — 16 men and 16 women — who start shooting for a rich prize fund in the finals.

Lubanski, one of the top finishers in the All-Star Tournament the past several years, finished on top in the men's bracket by 79 pins over another Michigan star, Billy Golembewski of Grand Rapids.

The change, passed unanimously, eliminates compulsory track membership in the USTA, parent body of the harness racing sport. The new rule sets up an alternative to membership — a contractual arrangement between the USTA and a track under which the track would receive USTA serv-

2 of Top 10 Teams Lose First Games

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
No sooner are Frank McGuire's North Carolina Tar Heels tabbed again as the nation's No. 1 team than a flock of potent challengers turn up.

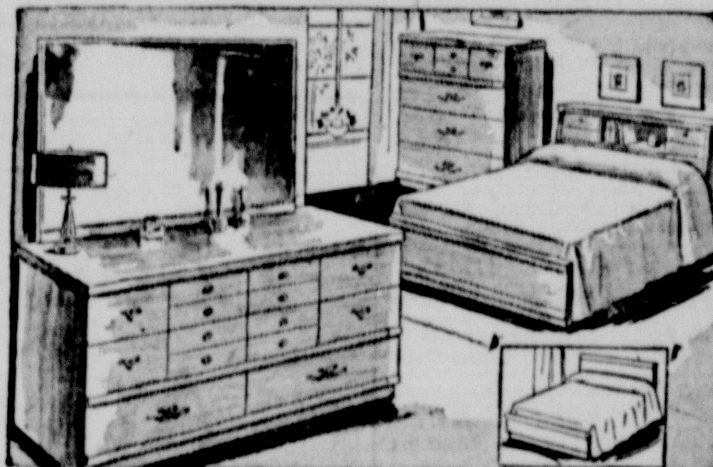

Maryland, bouncing Kentucky 71-62, and Cincinnati, romping 80-57 over a Temple team regarded as about tops in the East, fired the strongest playing - court protests last night to the way the nation's experts rated the teams in the first weekly Associated Press poll of the new campaign.

North Carolina, drawing 41 of 171 first-place votes and 1,018 points, led the first AP reckoning in a close race with Kansas, which drew 34 firsts and 965 points. Rounding out the top 10 were Kentucky, Bradley, Kansas State, San Francisco, Michigan State, West Virginia, St. Louis and Temple—in that order.

The second 10, in order: Minnesota, N. C. State, UCLA, Seattle, Notre Dame, Rice, Syracuse, Oklahoma City, Cincinnati, Memphis State.

Braves Hurling Power Told By Statistics

NEW YORK (AP) — The strength and depth of the Milwaukee Braves' pitching staff and the brilliance of Warren Spahn, their ace lefthander, was emphasized again today with the release of the official National League pitching records for 1957.

The figures showed why Spahn was voted the Cy Young award as the game's most outstanding pitcher. Warren was the only NL hurler to win 20 games, finishing with a 21-11 mark. He also pitched the most complete games, 18, and wound up in a tie for second place in the earned run competition with a 2.69 average.

It was Spahn's eighth 20-game victory campaign and gave him a total of 224 triumphs in 13 seasons with the Braves. He also had four shutouts in '57 to lift his career total to 42.

The Braves, who won their first pennant and world championship in Milwaukee, also had the most complete games, 60. Bob Buhl and Lew Burdette chipped in with 14 route - going performances. The champs also allowed the fewest home runs, 124.

Don Drysdale of the Dodgers turned in a good effort in his sophomore year. He finished in a dead-lock with Spahn in earned run average and his 17 victories were topped only by Spahn, Jack Sanford of Philadelphia with 19 and Buhl with 18.

Fritz Crisler Tipped As New PCL Boss

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Fritz Crisler, Michigan's athletic director for 17 years, is "willing to listen" if the Pacific Coast Conference wants him as commissioner. But Crisler denied he was seeking the job vacated last week by Victor O. Schmidt. Crisler expressed surprise when informed that the PCC post will be offered to him.

Iowa Seeking New Support For Financial Aid Setup

CHICAGO (AP) — University of Iowa today was seeking additional support to push through revision of the Big Ten financial aid to athletes plan at the conference's winter meeting this week.

The subject is expected to come up at the joint meeting of faculty representatives and athletic directors Friday.

Athletic publicity directors open the annual session today. Meetings continue through Saturday.

A review of operations of the financial aid program which was adopted by a 6-4 majority last Feb. 22, is among the prime items on the agenda.

Northwestern, Ohio State, Minnesota and Iowa voted against the plan originally.

It is believed that Indiana and Northwestern may back Iowa in the revision proposal which would eliminate the "need" principle in awarding grants of aid.

The core of the current program is granting aid strictly on a need factor determined by personal financial reports filed by parents of the prospective athlete.

Iowa wants to continue awarding scholarships on the basis of such determination of need as it wishes. The award, however, could not exceed the cost of board, room, books, tuition or fees and $15 a month for incidental expenses. Such revision would not require the financial data now demanded.

Opponents of the Iowa proposal say that abandoning the need factor would help defeat the original purpose of the plan and bring back open recruiting.

The revision, requiring a majority vote for approval, is not expected to get far with the policymaking body of faculty representatives.

Several modifications will be proposed. One will be to liberalize the quota of grants to permit a greater number than the 100-year limit. This would be especially for minor sports. Some awards are not for the full benefit (just tuition, books, etc.) but count as full tenders.

Another modification would be in direct contrast—a tightening of the ceiling on the number of tenders or the dollar value of them. Reinstatement of Phil Dickens as Indiana's head football coach is expected. Dickens, hired from Wyoming on a five-year contract, was suspended July 28, for recruiting violations.

Michigan State and Northwestern will meet in a football field for the first time when the 1959 season rolls around.

Cincinnati '5' Humbles Quint From Temple

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Cincinnati Bearcats, fast becoming one of the nation's most potent basketball teams, roared to their second victory Monday night by defeating 10th ranked Temple

80-57.

The Bearcats' much-lauded sophomore, Oscar Robertson, continued to live up to pre-season praises. The former Indianapolis high school star poured in 36 points hitting 16 of 21 field goal tries and picking off 18 rebounds.

In Cincinnati's previous 105-49 victory over Indiana State, Robertson hit 28 points in the 28 minutes he played.

The Owls, picked as one of the most talent-loaded Eastern teams, were little match for the Bearcats.

Temple stayed with Cincinnati until Cincy's Spud Hornsby sank a jump shot that gave Cincinnati a 22-21 lead, and they thereafter were never headed.

In another game in southwestern Ohio, Miami crushed Heidelberg under a 97-56 score.

The Redskins' big Wayne Embury scored 27 points and matched that figure in rebounds. It was Miami's second victory and the Student Princes' third defeat.

The only other contest in the state saw Rio Grande take its second victory in six starts with a 62-44 win over West Virginia State on the Redmen's home court.

Auburn receiving
Football King Trophy

AUBURN, Ala. (AP)—Let it rain, let it pour. The sun would still be shining and birds singing in Auburn hearts as the Tigers receive their first national football championship trophy today.

Auburn completed its 1957 season in a blaze of gridiron glory.

It captured the Southeastern Conference title, won national defensive honors, and then was voted national champions for the year.

U.S. Clubwomen Showing Change

'58 Model Is Younger Streamlined, Energetic

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

The modern clubwoman ain't what she used to be.

The 1958 model is young, streamlined, energetic, up to the minute and highly fashion conscious. She probably has several young children, does her own housework, cooking and chauffeuring and in addition interests herself in all kinds of community projects, such as schools, libraries and government.

In addition she sews her own wardrobe, and that of her children. Sometimes she even turns out a few items such as bathrobes and sports shirts for her husband. With the money thus saved she invests in smart new accessories, or splurges on a festive party.

This information comes, in part, from Mrs. Bradford Cushman, of Portland, Maine, chairman of the crafts division of the General Federation of Women's Clubs. Right now she is involved in a national sewing contest sponsored by the 10,000 affiliated clubs in this country.

Clubs of 47 states already have signed up for the contest. The final awards will be made at the federation convention in Detroit next June.

"The response has been fantastic," says Mrs. Cushman. "We are offering a prize for the best and most suitable costume for a clubwoman, made at home."

The General Federation of Women's Clubs has 11 million members throughout the world, and 5½ million in the United States.

Official Rule On Candidates Being Sought

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Secretary of State Ted W. Brown said today he will ask an official ruling on the question of whether candidates elected last Nov. 5 are barred from taking office if they failed to file campaign expense statements before the deadline.

Brown said earlier he would request an informal opinion from Atty. Gen. William Saxbe, but changed to request to a formal ruling because of the number of candidates who failed to file statements before the deadline at 4 p. m. last Thursday. The change in plans may delay an answer to the question for several days, he added.

A new law, effective Sept. 16, requires candidates to report expenses within 30 days to obtain certificates of election necessary for them to take office. The law also prevents both successful and unsuccessful candidates from running for office for the next five years if they fail to file statements on time.

In Franklin County alone, 51 successful candidates for various local offices failed to file on time. Sixty-six unsuccessful candidates also failed to file. Election officials estimated on that basis that about 1,000 others throughout the state might be similarly affected. But Brown expressed doubt the total would run that high.

Cleveland Protesting Ohio Bell Rate Hike

COLUMBUS (AP)—Three Cleveland officials Monday asked the Utilities Commission to delay advance work on an anticipated rate increase request by Ohio Bell Telephone Co. until the application for the increase is filed.

Ralph S. Locher, law director; Joseph H. Crowley, chief counsel; and Andrew R. Sarisky, assistant law director, said previous planning by the commission would put Cleveland at a disadvantage in opposing the increase.

Santa and the STRONG BOY

by LUCRECE HUDGINS BEALE

SYNOPSIS: Cruel King Ignatz of Ketchikan orders the circus people to amuse him or be imprisoned. They put on their acts but cannot make the king laugh. "Get the Strong Boy!" cried Mr. Maxim. But Richard cannot be found.

CHAPTER SIX

THE KING IS AMUSED

"Is this all there is to your circus?" demanded King Ignatz. "I have not been amused."

"There is one more thing, your majesty," said Mr. Maxim. "Our Strong Boy act."

"Bring it on, then," said the king.

But no one could find the Strong Boy for Richard was hiding in a costume trunk in the center of the ring. The sight of King Ignatz waving his sword and the sound of his fierce shouting had so frightened the boy that he had leaped into the trunk and pulled down the lid.

To hide himself even better he wrapped himself round and round with the costumes in the trunk.

"They'll never find me!" he whispered to himself.

But he did not know his own strength. The trunk was old and weak and as Richard thrashed about there was a sudden awful creaking and the four sides of the trunk burst open.

There, before the astonished king, stood Richard with a plumed hat on his head, a clown's mask on his face, and a ballerina's dress draped from his shoulders.

"And who, pray, is this?" demanded the king at last.

"Y-your majesty," quavered Mr. Maxim, "this is the S-Strongest Boy in the World!"

"Oh!" said King Ignatz, and he began to laugh. "Ho! Ho! Ho!" He threw back his head and laughed until the tears rolled down his cheeks. "The Strongest Boy in the World!" he cried. "Oh, what a joke!" He pointed at Richard, whose teeth were chattering so that the sound could be heard all over the tent. "That's the funniest sight I've ever seen! I am amused!"

Mr. Maxim and all the circus folk sighed with relief.

"You may go free," said King Ignatz grandly.

"Thank you, your majesty," bowed Mr. Maxim.

"Only," said King Ignatz, "I shall keep your Strong Boy. He will be my jester. He will live with me and amuse me."

"But, your majesty," protested Mr. Maxim. "He's only a dimwitted boy and—"

"Good," said the king. "He will not dare to match wits with me. Come, now. Leave my kingdom but leave the boy behind."

He waved his sword and his guards surrounded Richard and marched him to the king's palace. It was a place of dreadful gloom. It was surrounded by 20 foot walls and a moat. Every window was barred and every other door led to a dungeon cell.

"Now, boy," said King Ignatz, "you are to make me laugh whenever I say. I often need to be cheered."

"I'm sure you do," said Richard timidly.

"Why so?" demanded the king in surprise.

"Because your palace is so gloomy," said Richard.

"It's the finest money can buy," thundered the king. "What would you know about palaces anyway?"

"I have been in a palace," murmured Richard.

Ignatz guffawed. "Oh you do

Publisher Fears Reds Able To Knock Out U.S. Defense

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—The earth satellites prove Russia is now standardly America's only major capable of destroying almost in defense, the Strategic Air Command, newspaper publisher James M. Cox Jr. declared Monday.

Cox addressed the Springfield Rotary club. He publishes newspapers in Springfield and Dayton, Ohio; Miami, Fla. and Atlanta, Ga., and has radio and television facilities in Dayton, Miami and Atlanta.

Russia could bring heavy destruction on the Strategic Air Command (SAC) by using medium range directed missiles, Cox warned. Emphasizing that he did not wish to appear an alarmist, Cox said:

"I feel our country is in a position of great peril and that all media of information should quietly, but forcefully, present the situation. America has faced many difficult times during its brief history. I believe if awakened and informed we will meet this challenge."

Cox said that "open, decent and sensible negotiations to maintain peace apparently are out of the question." He warned that the United States is facing "what appears to be a technological lead in certain very deadly weapons possessed in quantity by the Soviets."

"The launching of sputnik," he said, "proves they, the Russians, have launching capabilities that pose a definite threat to our only deterrent, namely, the retaliatory power of the Strategic Air Command, which is superbly manned, trained, led and ready to fight within 15 minutes."

The men of the SAC are ready, willing and able, Cox said. "However, he added, they could be facing almost instant destruction by medium range, directed missiles. In addition, they are situated in such countries...where the stability of local governments is being constantly nibbled by Communist agitators."

Cox emphasized that America must create a defense at the lowest possible price because, "if we don't, we can be defeated—with our firing a shot—by becoming economically bankrupt."

To meet the Soviet challenge, Cox suggested the re-evaluation of America's educational system from the grade school to the university, correction of the "disgraceful low pay of our teachers," and the maintenance of special technical schools for unusual students.

"It may be that this emergency will turn out to be godsend if it awakens the country to cold, hard, realistic thinking about our problems," he concluded.
